'BIPOLAR' BEN!

Out-of-control Affleck's hooked on adrenaline: top docs

IT'S bad news for Ben Affleck's love-struck nanny, Christine Ouzounian - if the two end up together, it's more than likely he's going to cheat on her!

Experts told The National ENQUIRER the "Batman v Superman" star - in the middle of a nasty divorce from wife Jennifer Garner - has an adolescent obsession with satisfying his lust for hookers, gambling, booze and extramarital affairs that "borders on bipolar and sociopathic" behavior!

"That's the kind of behavior typically consistent with a sociopath!" said family therapist Darby Fox, who hasn't treated Ben, 43.

Psychiatrist Mark Goulston agreed: "It fits the profile of being addicted to adrenaline, with cheating to get ahead and a 'win at all costs' attitude."

What's more, psychologist Rachel Needle, who hasn't treated Ben, added, "A lot of celebrities are narcissistic and need external validation."

"Men sleep with prostitutes to fulfill a fantasy, or to get something they're not getting from their partner."

A source told The ENQUIRER: "The experts' take is bad news for Christine, who fantasizes about having a full blown relationship with Ben when his divorce is finalized."

Reps for Ben have vehemently denied any relationship with Christine, but at the time of the couple's June 30 divorce announcement, the 28-year-old had been caring for their three kids. Jen later dumped Christine and sent Ben packing when the babysitter accompanied them on a post-divorce trip to the Bahamas, said sources.

BEN Affleck has packed on 15 pounds over the humiliating details that have leaked about his upcoming divorce from Jennifer Garner!

"Ben's let himself go in a BIG way," said a source. "He's eating like a pig!"

The big guy bulked up to play Batman in "Batman v Superman: Dawn of Justice" - but bad publicity has Ben hitting the kitchen more than the gym!

"Now he's got man boobs - and a couple of new inches on the waist!" the source added. NE

Eva and Jose ring it up

MENDES' ENGAGING SMILE!

THE ring's the thing for bombshell Eva Mendes and "Crazy, Stupid, Love" beau Ryan Gosling, as the actress is flashing an engagement-worthy sparkler all over town!

Eva's monster rock looks to be an emerald set in a platinum band, and big enough to make anyone green with envy, The National ENQUIRER has learned.

Our spies first caught 41-year-old Eva modeling the bauble on June 21.

Since then, the "2 Fast 2 Furious" star's ring has been spotted numerous times, though she wears it on her right hand and not the telltale left.

Eva and Ryan, 34, are celebrating daughter Esmeralda's birthday this fall. What better time to make it all official in the eyes of the law?

Did Ryan take Eva to Emerald City?

HAPPILY EVA AFTER?

EVA Longoria may not be one of the "Desperate Housewives" – she's sporting the sort of finger bling typically reserved for the blissfully wedded!

Formerly Mrs. Tony Parker, 40-year-old Eva recently returned from a romantic, honeymoon-like holiday in Capri with dashing businessman boyfriend Jose Antonio Baston.

Our sources caught a proudly bejeweled Eva at Magnolia restaurant in Hollywood and on a yogurt outing with Jose.

Though Eva claimed, "This is just a Martin Katz band that I move on my hands depending on my swelling," photos since July show the band exclusively on her left hand!

"I must have gained weight," she said.

ANGELINA Jolie's drastic weight loss has become so severe that she's wearing kids' clothing, an insider exclusively told The National ENQUIRER.

As previously reported, the workaholic mom of six, 40, is on a fast track to an early death after wasting away to a mere 83 pounds.

"She's slowly killing herself, but she's in total denial about it," the insider said to The ENQUIRER of Angie's plight. "The weight is falling off her at an alarming rate, and the saddest part is that she thinks it's perfectly normal. Eating is her last priority – she's consumed with work and still smokes like a chimney, which suppresses her already nonexistent appetite."

Actress and human rights advocate Angelina is "forced to buy clothes in girls' sizes now because she just doesn't fill out normal clothes anymore," said our source.

"In March, she went on a designer shopping spree in L.A., but she didn't find anything that fit her. Now it's even worse."

Husband Brad Pitt is more than worried about Angie's rapidly declining health. "He's really getting tired of having to deal with this recurring problem," shared the insider. "He's hired nutritionists, therapists, dieticians, the works, but it all falls on deaf ears for Angie. She's in bad shape. She's so thin; she gets dizzy spells. She's tired all the time, and she's so pale she looks like a walking cadaver."

But Angie, already obsessed with her next directorial effort, "First They Killed My Father," refuses to stop. "The location is in Cambodia, so it's going to be an extreme setting," said a concerned source. "Angie always loses weight when she's directing, so the race is on for Brad to try and bulk her up."

Before it's too late. But the source said: "Everyone's worried the gritty genocide project could kill her." NE

CRYIN' RYAN

Seacrest sobs as true love Julianne plans to wed

REMORSEFUL Ryan Seacrest has been kicking himself ever since he heard his “Dancing with the Stars” ex-girlfriend, Julianne Hough, is waltzing to the altar with hot and hunky hockey player Brooks Laich!

“Ryan is completely devastated,” an insider told The National ENQUIRER. “He’s been pining for Julianne since they split, telling friends she’s the one who got away.”

But the “American Idol” host is a day late and a dollar short with any plans for a reconciliation. The blonde stunner announced on Aug. 18 that she and Canadian-born NHL athlete Brooks are engaged – and she couldn’t be happier!

“Julianne is gushing that Brooks is a dream come true,” said another source. “He’s a grounded family man who wants marriage and children, and isn’t a workaholic like Ryan!”

Ironically, that was the issue that blew their relationship apart. After three years as one of Hollywood’s hottest couples, Ryan, 40, gave Julianne, 27, her walking papers, blaming work demands and Julianne for being too much of a “party girl.”

But nothing could be further from the truth, sources said.

Judge Judy in SHAM CASES flap!

JUDGE Judy is in hot water again, as a letter from a staffer has leaked revealing the multiple levels of fakery the courtroom “reality” show is built upon, sources have told The National ENQUIRER.

The letter, signed by producer Julie Turner, spills how the program employs “field researchers” who review and suggest cases pending in small claims court that they believe would make for explosive television fare.

According to the letter, potential participants are baited with a number of sweeteners: Defendants, for example, are told the show guarantees “to pay (the) plaintiff the full amount that was awarded against you and you pay nothing.”

“It’s a real ‘how to’ for faking your case,” said an insider.

Even better for the litigants, the letter also states, is that “no civil judgment will be entered against you if you lose the case,” as appearing before the cameras acts as arbitration, as opposed to litigation.

As The ENQUIRER reported in May, people who appeared on the show charged the whole thing was phony, and branded Judge Judy herself a “duplicitous” fraud!

More than a dozen complaints said the jurist – who rakes in $47 million a year – reaches a decision before any evidence is presented!

on Julianne, but actually he wasn't ready to settle down and she was," explained the source.

Since the March 2013 split, Ryan's been side-stepping from one tryst to the next. The list includes former Miss Teen USA Hilary Cruz and model Renée Hall.

"In between each girl, Ryan called Julianne, begging to reunite with her," revealed the insider.

"But Julianne, who'd been left heartbroken after being jilted, wasn't interested. She had already moved on with her life and realized she was better off without him."

Julianne met her dashing fiancé Brooks, 32, in February 2014 and since then, Ryan's pleas have fallen on deaf ears.

"It's too bad," added the insider. "She would have had Ryan's kids if he had put a ring on her finger."

Aretha, inset, claimed she wanted Halle to portray her, but producers chose an "American Idol" instead!

HALLE HURT BY ARETHA'S JIBE!

You're too old to play me in biopic, blasts Franklin

HALLE Berry is fuming over the lack of R-E-S-P-E-C-T she's getting from the "Queen of Soul," Aretha Franklin!

The Oscar winner, 49, is furious about being passed over for the starring role in a biopic about the singer.

"Halle is heartsick," an insider revealed exclusively to The National ENQUIRER.

For some time, the 73-year-old Aretha wooed Halle for the project – even gushing, "Halle Berry is my pick," to Wendy Williams.

But Halle has been dissed for "American Idol" alum Jennifer Hudson, 34, who's set to sign on as Aretha in the flick being fast-tracked by the producers of "Straight Outta Compton."

"When Halle heard Jennifer is on the inside track for the role, she called Aretha to read her the riot act," said the source.

"Aretha wouldn't take Halle's calls! She had someone reply, saying casting Jennifer is just a sound business decision."

Halle – who nabbed a Best Actress Oscar for "Monster's Ball" and portrayed singer Dorothy Dandridge in an HBO movie – welcomed Aretha into her home and counted her as a trusted friend, revealed the source. "Halle feels duped. It's not her fault producers and Aretha dragged their feet for years!" the source added.

The setback is the latest to befall Halle. As The ENQUIRER recently revealed, Halle hasn't been wearing her wedding ring, and she and third husband, French actor Olivier Martinez, are living separate lives and facing a $100 million divorce.

"Halle feels like nothing's working right for her, professionally or personally."

"Halle is holding a massive grudge. She says she'll never speak to Aretha again!"

But Aretha told The ENQUIRER there's no truth to bad blood between the two, adding: "Halle and I appreciate each other. She was just on the front row of my Los Angeles concert at the Microsoft Theater." NE

MAGIC Johnson's son EJ is having a ball with his new, slimmed-down body, parading it around Tinseltown – in a dress!

The towering 23-year-old fan favorite from “Rich Kids of Beverly Hills” has been spotted bouncing around with knee-high boots, a black purse, makeup and a plunging neckline. All that was missing was a wig!

“I’m a classic bitch!” EJ happily tweeted to his followers.

The flamboyant display, which began after the famous son shed 180 pounds with gastric surgery in August 2014, has sparked speculation that he’s seriously courting the idea of following in the footsteps of Caitlyn Jenner and making a fast break to become a woman.

“A big part of the weight loss is the desire to get rid of something and become something else,” said Dr. Mark Goulston, an L.A. psychiatrist and the author of “Just Listen.”

At his portly peak, the Lakers legend’s lad tipped the scales at a whopping 350 pounds.

While EJ has never openly declared a desire to follow in the high-heeled path of Caitlyn and become a fully transgendered TV star, he has hinted that he may be prancing down a similar path.

“The surgery was just a tool,” he said.

“I think that it was something that really helped me jump-start the life I definitely wanted to lead.”

TORI Spelling is terrified – and terrifying!

As these shocking exclusive photos reveal, the “True Tori” star’s face is a blotchy mess and her horribly burned arm has friends worried it may need to be amputated!

Tori, 42, has undergone some secret cosmetic skin resurfacing to keep her skin smooth for yet another reality show close-up, sources told The National ENQUIRER.

But the alarming results are anything but a secret! She looked “red and raw after a chemical peel, waxed eyebrows and a microdermabrasion facial,” our on-site spy reported after Tori was seen exiting a spa in Calabasas, Calif., while a second source said she’s visited the spa weekly since July.

What’s more, The ENQUIRER can now reveal Tori is wrestling with an amputation horror!

The reality star is still healing from a severe burn to her right arm sustained while celebrating Easter with husband Dean McDermott and their four kids at Benihana Restaurant in Encino.

Tori's face is red and raw from multiple procedures, and she has a severe burn on her right arm

Tori tripped and fell backward onto a scorching hot hibachi grill, searing her arm with a massive second-degree burn. She has since undergone skin grafts that friends fear have become infected.

"It just doesn't seem to be healing," a family friend explained.

"It's been months now. I'm afraid her arm will need to be amputated!"

"Now when she feels a pain in her arm, she thinks it will have to be amputated - and she's got her friends scared to death."

It's not the first time body-obsessed Tori has frightened friends, fans and family with cosmetic touch-ups and bizarre weight-loss behavior.

The ENQUIRER reported last year how Tori began a 500-calorie-a-day diet after Dean was caught redhanded in a two-day romp with Emily Goodhand.

Doctors have also said the former "Beverly Hills, 90210" cutie has had "too many nose jobs."

Katie homes in on her producer pal!

BRUNETTE beauty Katie Holmes is getting starry-eyed for her hot and handsome producer Josh Boone!

The two have been huddling on the New York set of "All We Had," in which Katie stars and directs and Josh is the executive producer, a source told The National ENQUIRER.

"They've been working closely together for months, so it's not a shocker that they'd be attracted to each other," said the insider.

"They really have a connection. They hang out on the set all the time, and you can see the sparkle in their eyes. They're always leaning in to whisper in each other's ears. It's very sweet and romantic." Katie and Josh, both 36, are only months apart in age, and insiders said the two may be a match made in heaven.

Josh - who's become a super-hot Hollywood player after directing the Shailene Woodley romance "The Fault in Our Stars" - wrote the screenplay to "All We Had," which marks Katie's feature film directorial debut. NE

24-year-old Rosalind hopes her beau will get psychiatric help

MENTAL MEL READY TO EXPLODE!

Trip to the psych ward may help, says a pal

MEL Gibson could be headed for the psych ward after a series of escalating bizarre outbursts that have friends worried, The National ENQUIRER has learned.

Mel's girlfriend, Rosalind Ross, was with the infamously hotheaded star when he launched into his latest meltdown, allegedly verbally and physically attacking a female photographer in Sydney!

"It looks like he's spiraling out of control again," an insider told The ENQUIRER.

Rosalind, 24, an aspiring screenwriter, is now begging Mel, 59, to start anger management sessions, the insider said.

Veteran photographer Kristi Miller, who works for The Daily Telegraph, claimed Mel pushed and verbally abused her outside a movie theater Aug. 23.

"I thought he was going to punch me in the face," Kristi, a mother of three, alleged.

"He was spitting in my face as he was yelling, calling me a dog, saying I'm not even a human being and I will go to hell," she recounted.

"He swore and called me the C-word. It was nonstop; he didn't even breathe."

Mad Mel only calmed down when Rosalind intervened.

The "Lethal Weapon" star reportedly went ballistic after Kristi photographed him and Rosalind walking, but Mel's rep later claimed he only reacted because he was being "harassed." NE

EXCLUSIVE

BOBBI Kristina Brown's distraught 81-year-old grandmother, Cissy Houston, collapsed in tears after learning Nick Gordon showed up at her granddaughter's grave, The National ENQUIRER has learned.

In our previous issue, The ENQUIRER published a stunning series of world exclusive photos showing Gordon on his secret trip to Bobbi Kristina's final resting place at the Fairview Cemetery in Westfield, N.J., on Aug. 17.

A source told The ENQUIRER: "Only 14 days before Cissy was there to bury her beloved grandchild next to the grave of her tragic daughter, Whitney Houston.

"Cissy still can't come to grips with 'Krissi' being dead - and when she heard Nick went there, she collapsed in grief.

"Both sides of the family - including Bobbi Kristina's dad Bobby Brown and her aunt Pat Houston - are furious that Nick dared to go to the grave after he was barred from her funeral, and before then, from the hospital and the hospice facility where she eventually died."

Bobbi Kristina died at age 22 on July 26, never recovering from the medical-induced coma she lapsed into when she was found unresponsive and facedown in a water-filled bathtub at the Roswell, Ga., townhouse she shared with Gordon on Jan. 31.

While authorities continue their homicide investigation, Gordon has been accused of causing Bobbi Kristina's death in a civil lawsuit - a claim which his lawyers have denied. NE

Madman was obsessed with Hollywood & gay porn

DERANGED “TV Shooter” Vester Lee Flanagan II was obsessed with Hollywood megastar Jake Gyllenhaal before he shocked the world by killing two former news colleagues live on the air, The National ENQUIRER has learned in an exclusive investigation.

In other bombshell revelations, the 41-year-old former WDBJ-TV reporter’s Aug. 26 double murder was fueled by watching violent gay porn and having “rough sex” during a series of one-night stands in Roanoke, Va., sources revealed.

Flanagan’s double execution of reporter Alison Parker and her cameraman Adam Ward followed the madman’s obsession with the 2014 movie “Nightcrawler,” in which Jake plays a freelance news cameraman obsessed with filming crime, mayhem and murder, a law enforcement source told THE ENQUIRER.

Jake’s character, Louis Bloom, became so twisted he began arranging crimes – one of which resulted in the death of a colleague, who he then filmed dying!

TV SHOOTER WANTED TO KILL JAKE GYLLENHAAL

“Sicko Flanagan apparently watched that film over and over,” said the source.

“Had he made his way out to Hollywood, he could have even targeted the actor!”

In an apartment near the WDBJ studios, where he was fired from two years ago, Flanagan apparently planned out his bloodbath while viewing twisted movies.

“He was into gay porn – the more violent and degrading the better; ‘S&M’ stuff, bestiality,” a source added.

Police later recovered unwashed sex toys from his apartment, which was also littered with cat feces.

The ENQUIRER has also uncovered how the heavysset monster spent his nights trolling for sex.

He cruised adult bookstores and frequented a downtown dance club, “The Park,” insid-

‘I’M A POWDER KEG WAITING TO GO BOOM!’

IN HIS sick diary, “TV Shooter” Vester Flanagan II wrote: “My anger has been building steadily. I’ve been a human powder keg for a while – just waiting to go BOOM!!”

Flanagan claimed his carnage was triggered by the Charleston church shooting in June, in which white gunman Dylann Roof killed the church pastor of the Emanuel African Methodist Episcopal Church and eight black worshippers during a Bible study session.

“I put down a deposit for a gun on 6/19/15. The Church shooting in Charleston happened on 6/17/15. What sent me over the top was the church shooting. And my hollow point bullets have the victims’ initials on them.

“As for Dylann Roof? ... You want a race war (expletive)? Bring it then you white (expletive)!”

He also quoted the Virginia Tech University mass killer, Seung-Hui Cho, who killed 32 ers revealed.

A man, whose name is being withheld by The ENQUIRER, said Flanagan picked up a male friend.

Said the informant: "He said this guy was into rough stuff. He was very angry and scared the s--t out of my pal!"

The ENQUIRER learned Flanagan grew up in Oakland, Calif., the child of an emotionally disturbed mother. His parents divorced when he was 8. His father claimed in court documents that his wife's behavior toward him and their children was

"extremely menacing and threatening."

As a young adult, Flanagan worked as a male escort before becoming an on-air TV reporter.

He used the professional name "Bryce Williams."

But Flanagan was fired from several jobs because of anger management issues – and often blamed being discriminated against because he was black and gay.

HIS RAGE FINALLY boiled over Aug. 26, when he approached Alison and Adam while they were conducting an interview.

Before he started shooting, evil Flanagan drew his camera phone to film the carnage.

Adam was hit first, but managed to raise his camera for a glimpse of the killer before dying. Alison tried to run but was shot dead. The woman being interviewed, Vicki Gardner, was shot but survived. Flanagan led police on a chase before shooting himself and crashing his car. He died later in a hospital.

In his vehicle, cops recovered a Glock 19 pistol with multiple magazines and ammunition, an iPhone, several letters and notes, a to-do list – and a briefcase, which contained three license plates, a wig, shawl, umbrella, sunglasses and a black hat.

TWO YOUNG TALENTS FULL OF HOPE

ALISON PARKER, 24

Alison grew up in Martinsville, Va., and graduated from James Madison University's School of Media Arts and Design. "She was passionate about journalism and she was a great person to work with," said Bill Wyatt, from the school's communications department.

"The most radiant woman I ever met," in the words of a colleague.

Alison was in a relationship with WDBJ anchor Chris Hurst. After meeting her, Chris told his mother, "Mom, I've finally found my teammate and my partner." The two moved in together in August and were saving up for a wedding.

ADAM WARD, 27

Adam graduated from Virginia Tech in 2011.

He was also engaged to a WDBJ staffer, producer Melissa Ott. The couple had planned to move for a new job in Charlotte, N.C.

Co-workers said he always had a smile on his face. "A solid Virginia Tech fan," the station's morning meteorologist, Leo Hirshburner, said. When staffers came in groggy, Adam would wake everyone with talk about Virginia Tech football or whatever else was going on, Leo added. NE

"Also, I was influenced by Seung-Hui Cho. That's my boy right there," he wrote in the manifesto, obtained by The National ENQUIRER. "He got NEARLY double the amount that Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold got – just sayin'."

Concluded Flanagan: "Yeah I'm all f--ked up in the head."

Crocodile Hunter's grown-up babe rocks the prom, and heads for 'DWTS!'

BELOVED Bindi Irwin dazzled at the senior prom of her handsome American boyfriend by ditching her trademark khakis for a stylish black designer dress!

"She was so lovely," said fellow prom attendee Jackie Sanelli. "Some students had no idea she was going to turn up, and their jaws hit the floor when they saw her!"

Those teens haven't seen anything yet: Bindi will be kicking up her heels on the new season of "Dancing with the Stars," beginning Sept. 14.

Now a mature 17, Bindi was just a little girl when her father, "Crocodile Hunter" Steve Irwin, was killed in a horrifying attack by a stingray in 2006. He was 44.

Bindi traveled all the way from her native Queensland to the Sunshine State to attend the event on the arm of pro wakeboarder Chandler Powell.

"We all grew up here in the States watching her on TV, so to have her at the prom was amazing," said Jackie, a good friend of Bindi's hunky date.

As The National ENQUIRER first revealed, Bindi's new man means quite a lot to her.

"There is someone special in my life right now and I'm really happy with that!" she told The Chandler, 18, kept Bindi's appearance a surprise because he didn't want her to be overwhelmed by the attention.

The cute couple first met in November 2013 while Chandler was competing in Australia.

They stayed in touch, and Bindi was happy to travel half-way around the world to be Chandler's prom date!

Pals said he acted like her Prince Charming at the prom, while Bindi came off as anything but the celebrity she's become since her dad's death.

"She told me that she loved my dress!" said Kaylie Bomar. "She had time for everybody."

Most of her time was reserved for Chandler, though. Luckily, each globe-trots extensively - Chandler because of his sport and Bindi because she's following in her father's conservationist footsteps.

"They both love to travel," Taylor added. "They're a perfect match." NE

Paula Deen dancing WITH DANGER!

CHEF Paula Deen is high-stepping onto the new season of "Dancing with the Stars" - but the move could be a recipe for disaster!

Medical experts regard prancing

Paula's unhealthy past as a potential ticking time bomb.

Dr. Patrick Wanis worried the celebrity chef had only three years to live when The National ENQUIRER contacted him in 2012.

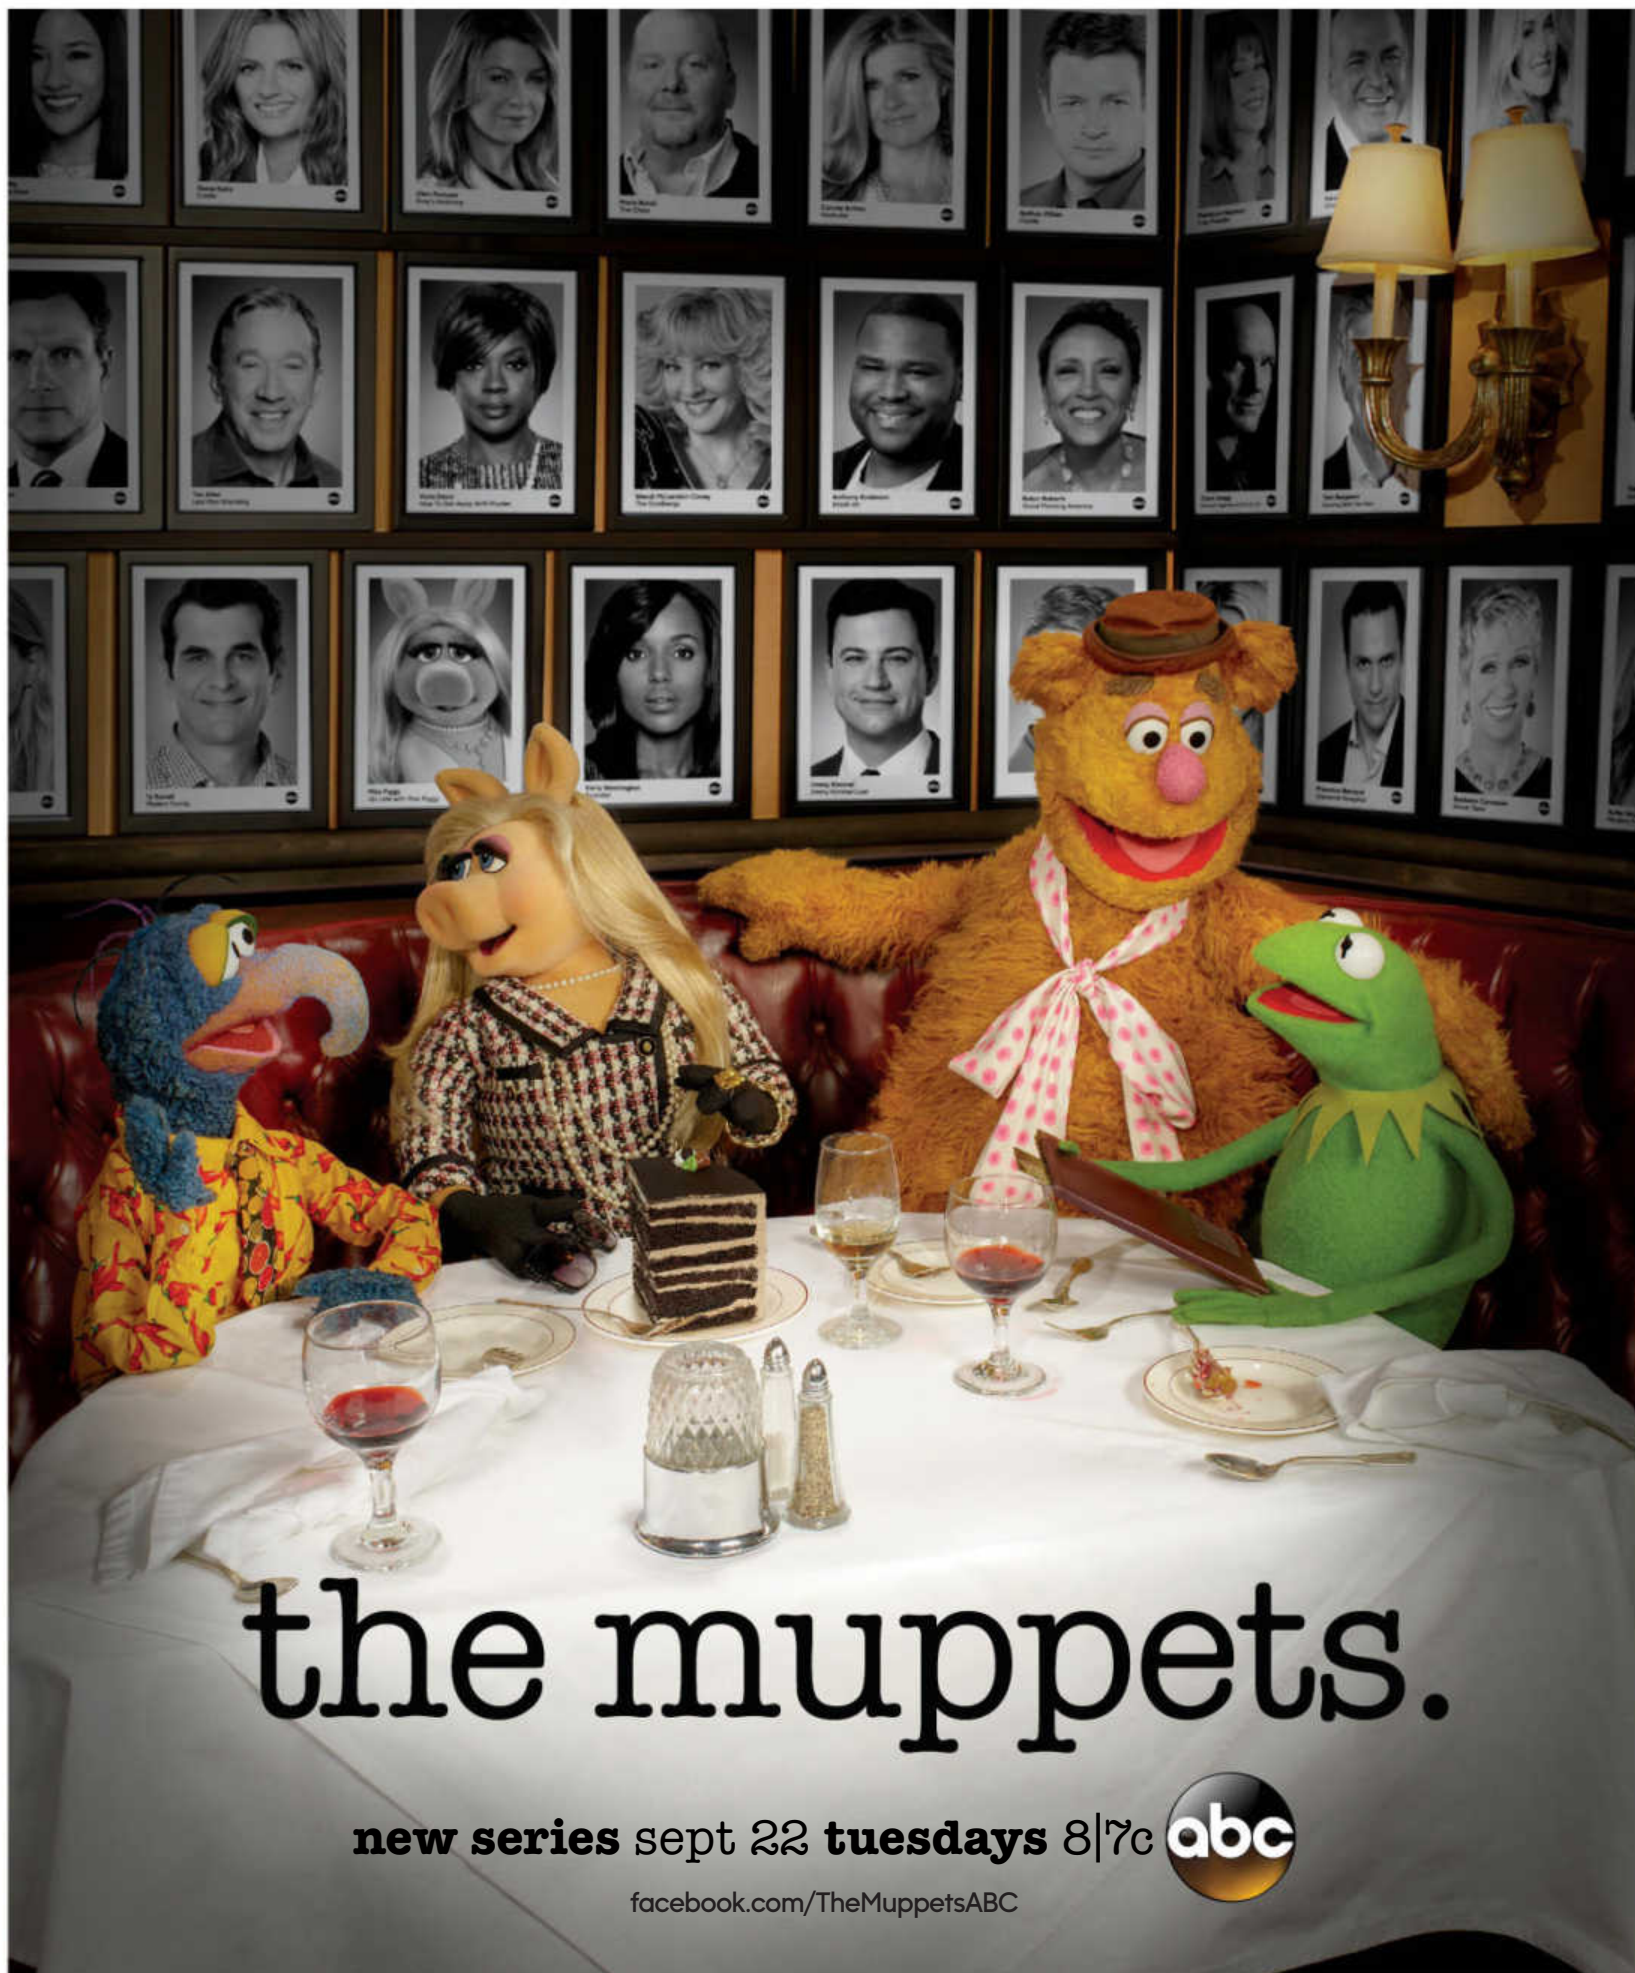

"Paula might only live to be 68!" Dr. Wanis said.

Frighteningly, that is Paula's age now! The butter-lovin' chef smoked for decades and is battling type 2 diabetes.

"It increases the risk of heart disease, kidney failure and stroke," Dr. Daniel Lorber told The ENQUIRER.

If things don't change, Paula's last dance might well be in front of a live studio audience!

TWISTED TRAVOLTA USES TO PAY OFF GAY LOVERS

JOHN Travolta has secretly paid at least $1.4 million – and possibly much more – in the last four years to hide the sickening facts about his secret gay life!

After an exhaustive investigation, The National ENQUIRER can now reveal the lies, secret settlements and cover-ups that have long hidden John's deviant double dealings.

Among the scandalous claims the 61-year-old actor has desperately concealed from his adoring fans:

- His marriage to Kelly Preston is a $240 million sham orchestrated by the Church of Scientology, according to multiple sources.

- He's made at least $1.4 million in legal payouts to possibly as many as seven men who claimed to be victims of his perverted sexual attacks.

- The "Grease" star has a special insurance policy that's been used to defend against

In a blockbuster probe, ENQUIRER reporters dug through mountains of legal documents and contacted sources around the globe to expose the star's decades of deceit, and our report is backed by source accounts, public legal filings and a confidential internal memo from an insurance company.

THE BIGGEST bombshell uncovered by The ENQUIRER investigation: The terrified actor reportedly forked out more than $1 million of his own cash to keep ex-lover Doug Gotterba's tell-all biography "Travolta Exposed" from hitting the bookshelves – and to make sure Doug's legal case never made it to court, according to a source.

The legal hearing to decide the fate of the book – set for Aug. 7 in Santa Barbara, Calif. – was suddenly dismissed after Doug's lawyer secretly filed a petition just days earlier to end the proceedings.

The sudden dismissal left legal teams puzzled, but the mystery was solved days later.

"I was told that, in exchange for dropping his lawsuit and shelving his book, Doug received a $1.3 million settlement," an insider exclusively told The ENQUIRER. "He walked away with almost a million bucks, and the rest went to his attorney."

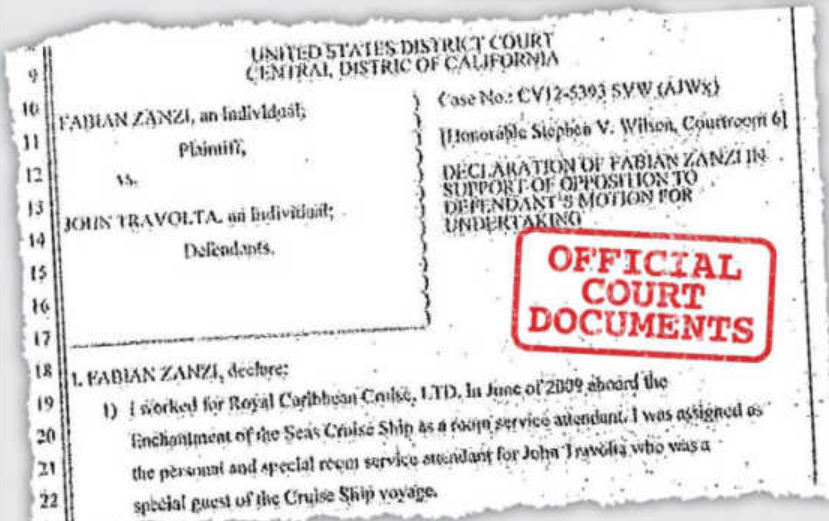

According to the source, the payout came directly from the actor – the settlement wasn't paid by the top-secret insursexual assault claims.

- A gay lover's tell-all book was successfully quashed by John before publication.

"It's no coincidence that, time after time, John has been able to make court cases, books and claims by men go away," a source close to the star told The ENQUIRER. "All you have to do is throw enough money at them and they disappear."

But John, who publicly denies his twisted gay life, can't silence the facts.

S MEGABUCKS & ACCUSERS!

Sex attack documents REVEAL how sleazy John uses money and fame to secure silence

ance policy he owns to cover sex assault lawsuits.

"John paid it because he did not want to answer any questions about his sexuality under oath," claimed the source. "He was terrified!"

John denied to The ENQUIRER he paid Doug.

THAT MILLION-DOLLAR muzzle was just one of the many hush-hush payoffs shelled out to keep John's skeletons safely in the closet.

The ENQUIRER has obtained a bombshell 2012 internal report from Chartis Insurance, listing multiple legal claims from alleged victims of John's supposed perverse sexual attacks!

The "loss-run" report - linked to Constellation Productions, Inc., John's production company - revealed a staggering six claims for 2012 alone! Two of those claims resulted in payments - one for $80,750 and another for $3,850 - while four additional claims remained open at the end of 2012.

The sex claims were all filed by men who said they were victimized by John's gay lust. They are: James Carney, Mark Riccardi, Anthony Brazas, Mark Higgins, Fabian Zanzi and a sixth party that is listed only as "unknown."

In a telling twist, the timing of the "unknown" claim - which resulted in a payout of $80,750 on May 15, 2012 - is suspiciously linked to a

Letter of the week

Finally hitched!

I am so glad Jennifer Aniston finally got married ("Jen & Justin's Shotgun Wedding," Aug. 24). Jen's a smart gal to hold on to that cash with a prenup. Maybe this will finally end the chatter about her and Brad Pitt!

—Margaret B., St. Louis, Mo.

Eva's insecurities

Nothing shows a man how much you care more than distrusting him ("Hands Off My Man," Aug. 17). If Eva Mendes' relationship with Ryan Gosling is solid, she shouldn't have to warn others to keep their hands off. If she's worried, maybe there's reason to be — but she should take it up with Ryan, not another woman.

Celebs then and now

I really enjoy the new feature "Changing Face of Fame" in All The Buzz. It's interesting to see which stars have decided to let nature take its course (Betty White) and which have decided to spend money unwisely (Mickey Rourke)!

Chelsea can't see herself joining this train wreck of a show Prison inmate GOES NUTS when he can't watch Springer show!

FIGHTS usually erupt between guests on "The Jerry Springer Show" – not among people watching it on TV!

But a slaphappy criminal addicted to Jerry's daily episodes of deviance went ballistic on a fellow inmate in a Florida jail – all because he demanded to tune into the over-the-top program!

Antron Laquay Smith, 32, was charged with battery after allegedly assaulting Donnie Floyd, 57, who was watching a movie with other inmates.

Cops said Smith "insisted on watching 'The Jerry Springer Show' at (4 p.m.) as he does every day" – and freaked out when Floyd "spoke up," apparently not ready to change the channel. According to witnesses, Smith attacked Floyd, pulling his head back and slapping his face.

But the bitch-slap smack-down didn't end there. Smith then tossed Floyd's food and personal items in the toilet and flushed! NE

Chelsea REJECTS OFFER to join 'The View'

PRODUCERS at "The View" are on their knees pleading with Chelsea Clinton to become their savior – but the former first daughter refuses to go anywhere near the toxic talk show!

"Chelsea snubbed ABC's offer to make her the next Barbara Walters," an inside source told The National ENQUIRER. "In the past two months, she's been approached twice by producers begging her to join the troubled talk show!"

The once-popular morning program is in free-fall after losing hosts Rosie O'Donnell, Rosie Perez and Nicolle Wallace in short order, and ABC execs are convinced 35-year-old Chelsea can save them from impending doom.

"The View" is also trying to recapture some of its old magic. Original co-host Joy Behar will be returning to the panel, along with past guest host Candace Cameron-Bure of "Full House" fame and newcomer ABC News correspondent Paula Faris.

"Chelsea used the 'busy new mom' excuse to turn the offer down, but in reality she couldn't think of anything worse than joining the show right now," said the source.

"It's become a nightmare behind the scenes."

However, producers are not giving up trying to woo Bill and Hillary's daughter!

"Chelsea's got a name that people will recognize," said the source. "She has the brains and experience to command the panel."

Clinton's heard it's HELL behind the scenes!

The ladies of "The View" certainly could use some discipline!

One guest host, Kelly Osbourne, shot herself in the foot by trashing immigrant workers Aug. 4: "If you kick every Latino out of this country, then who is going to be cleaning your toilets, Donald Trump?"

Kelly, daughter of "The Talk" co-host Sharon Osbourne, was quickly reprimanded by several co-hosts, but the damage was done.

Kelly, 30, apologized on Facebook, writing, "I am not a racist. I just whole-hearted f--ked up today."

'I'M A STONE COLD KILLER'

SPECIAL REPORT

Jailed Christopher Duntsch's shocking boast

IN A heart-stopping case of medical malice, a deadly doctor has been jailed after allegedly leaving a trail of maimed and murdered bodies in top Texas hospitals!

A special investigation by The National ENQUIRER has revealed hospital bosses and regulators ignored warnings about Dr. Christopher Duntsch.

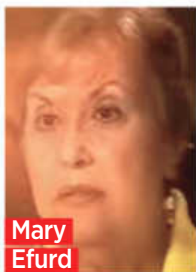

"A lot of really shocking things happen in hospitals but the Duntsch case tops the list," said Jim Girards, a medical malpractice lawyer.

"I likely am something between God, Einstein and the Antichrist," Duntsch boasted in a chilling Dec. 9, 2011, email. "What I am being is what I am, one of a kind, a mother f--ker stone cold killer."

Duntsch, 44, was jailed in July when prosecutors slapped him with five counts of aggravated assault and one count of injury to an elderly person. The charges cited use of deadly weapons: his "hands

Kellie Martin

Jeffrey Glidewell

Ken Fennell

Philip Mayfield

Jacqueline Troy

and surgical instruments."

Duntsch's dad, Donald, testified for the prosecution at the bail hearing, saying, "He uses alcohol."

Duntsch is accused of causing the death of one victim and the horrific injuries of others. He deliberately botched an operation on Floella Brown, 63, who died after a stroke and "excessive" blood loss, according to the indictments.

After Kellie Martin, 55, bled to death when Duntsch sliced through an artery, he moved to other hospitals, including Dallas Medical Center.

Jim represented Lee Passmore, who allegedly suffered spinal damage when Duntsch operated on him at Baylor Regional Medical Center in Plano.

"An assisting surgeon recognized he was doing stupid things. He grabbed Dr.

Duntsch's instruments and told him to stop!" Jim charged. "Staff were told that Duntsch used cocaine. He kept a gallon jug of vodka under his desk!"

While Baylor issued a statement saying the lawsuit allegations are misleading, Jim said: "What we do know is Duntsch was a cash cow for Baylor. He represented that he would earn a minimum of $20 million a year for them."

He operated on Mary Efurd, 74, in 2012 and "drilled multiple holes" in her, leaving her in chronic pain, prosecutors said!

Other victims include Jeffrey Glidewell, Jeff Cheney, Ken Fennell, Philip Mayfield and Jacqueline Troy.

In a deposition, a pal said Duntsch binged on LSD, pain pills and cocaine, then went to work. "Duntsch is an impaired physician, a sociopath," witness Dr. Randall Kirby said. "(He) must be stopped from practicing medicine!"

ENQUIRER'S 9/11 'DUST LADY' IN CANCER

THE world first knew her as the "Dust Lady" - the mysterious unnamed woman covered in ash and soot photographed fleeing the 9/11 terror attacks at the World Trade Center.

Her identity and dramatic story went untold for weeks until The National ENQUIRER tracked down Marcy Borders for a world exclusive interview in our Nov. 6, 2001 issue.

Titled "My Miracle Escape from the Depths of Hell," the single mom from Bayonne, N.J., revealed she had worked for only one month at a new

After our story appeared, warmhearted ENQUIRER readers opened their hearts and wallets to help. She told us then: "They've kept me alive and let me know that this world is not filled with cruel Despite surviving the attacks 14 years ago, stomach cancer claimed Marcy's life on Aug. 24. She was only 42 and went to her grave haunted by the tragedy.

EXCLUSIVE
INTERVIEW

ROSIE'S PRISON

O'Donnell could send daughter

ROSIE O'Donnell got even with the heroin dealer who hooked up with her runaway 17-year-old daughter.

In a world exclusive interview with The National ENQUIRER from behind bars, Steven Sheerer, 25, confirmed he could face five years in jail if Chelsea's furious TV star mother gets her wish.

"I know that," Sheerer told The ENQUIRER Aug. 27 at the Ocean County, N.J., jail, where he was being held on $40,000 bail after he was arrested for obscenity and endangering the welfare of a minor.

The ENQUIRER learned that authorities had no intentions of filing charges against Sheerer. That was, until the spitting-mad star, 53, started badgering the local cops!

Seven days after Rosie said her adopted daughter - who suffers from mental illness and requires medication - had gone missing from their Nyack, N.Y., home, the teen was found safe inside Sheerer's house, where he lives with his parents and a sibling.

While Sheerer initially denied cops access to her, Chelsea was found hiding in a windowless attic with her therapy dog, a black terrier named Bear.

But it wasn't until three days after his recovery that he was taken into custody!

"Rosie found a nude picture of him on Chelsea's cellphone and started calling Barnegat police insisting that they file charges," a law enforcement source confided to The ENQUIRER.

"Everybody thought it was over, then Rosie really started pushing the issue."

If convicted, Sheerer could land in the slammer for five years.

He was previously arrested on heroin dealing and child endangerment and jailed in 2013.

The law enforcement insider told The ENQUIRER it

ENQUIRER reporter Doug Montero stands outside the Ocean County, N.J., facility where he landed a brief talk with Sheerer appears Sheerer and Chelsea were not engaged in any sort of drug activity. Though the age of sexual consent in New Jersey is 16, it is illegal for an adult to send a nude picture to anyone under the age of 18. Chelsea, who was 17 when she ran off, turned 18 Aug. 24.

Sheerer's lawyer, Robert Tarver, told The ENQUIRER he intends to show the court that Chelsea told his client she was over 18. Their relationship, which began on the social site Tinder, went on for several weeks before she boarded a bus in New York to stay with him in Barnegat Township, N.J.

"I believe she had a trusting relationship with Steven," he told The ENQUIRER. "The fact of the matter is that he has been portrayed as a predator and going after children, but nothing could be further from the truth. If not for the fact that this were Rosie O'Donnell, he probably would not even be charged."

A bail reduction hearing is scheduled for Sept. 4.

"While Sheerer may get bail, he's still facing five years in prison, thanks to Rosie," said another source. "She got her revenge - and that'll show him for messing with her kid!"

CHELSEA GOES FROM GLAM TO GLUM

CHELSEA'S biological mom made an emotional plea with The ENQUIRER in our last issue: "Please come live with me!"

Deanna Micokey got her wish. Chelsea left Rosie's home on her 18th birthday, Aug. 24.

But Deanna's modest Wisconsin home will lack the luxury enjoyed under Rosie's roof, The ENQUIRER has learned!

"Chelsea was shuttled between million-dollar homes in Miami and New York, went on first-class vacations and took horseback riding lessons," said a source. "Deanna's world is far different."

Deanna, 38, purchased her home for $19,000 in 2011. She lives there with her three other children and is currently divorcing her second husband.

"I'm sure Deanna thought that when Chelsea came to live with her that Rosie would foot the bill, but that's not going to happen!" said the source.

Deanna, however, believes she can give Chelsea something money can't buy: "I can give her what Rosie can't - and that's unconditional love." NE

The story got worse for Rosie when The ENQUIRER revealed she'd backed out on a planned adoption after she discovered the fetus might have a birth defect. The child is now fine, but Rosie turned her back on the birth mother - the same woman who delivered Rosie's daughter, Dakota!

Finally, The ENQUIRER printed the heartfelt plea from teen Chelsea's birth mother, who alleged Rosie cut her out of the child's life. Hoping for a mother and child reunion, she vowed: "My door will always be open!"

Anne's still hung up on Ellen!

ANNE Heche is still so in love with ex Ellen DeGeneres that it's ruining her current romance!

"Anne was so devastated when they split," an insider dished.

The couple's torrid three-year romance shattered in 2000, and friends said ties to the talk show host are delaying 46-year-old Anne's marriage to her partner of eight years, actor James Tupper, 50.

"One of her excuses is that she doesn't want their marriage to be compared to Ellen and Portia's," the source said.

"But that's ridiculous! It shows she just can't put that relationship behind her."

CASE CLOSED FOR RACHEL & TAYLOR!

"TRUE Detective" co-stars Rachel McAdams and Taylor Kitsch were handcuffed to each other on set, but the pair's intimate investigations fizzled when the cameras stopped rolling.

"Taylor grew close to Rachel," said a source. "But he hightailed it as soon as they stopped filming!"

The actor, 34, headed home to Austin, Texas, where he's lived since scoring his role in "Friday Night Lights."

"Taylor isn't willing to pull up stakes and move to L.A.," said the source.

With two new films rumored to be on her horizon - including "Doctor Strange" - Rachel, 36, accepted the abrupt ending.

"As much as she adores Taylor, she has no time for a long-distance relationship," added the source.

CHRISTINA SIGNS UP A SEX COACH!

CHRISTINA Aguilera has hired a love doctor to prescribe some sexy medicine for her and baby daddy Matt Rutler!

"Things have become a little dry since the birth of (their daughter) Summer a year ago," an insider told The National ENQUIRER.

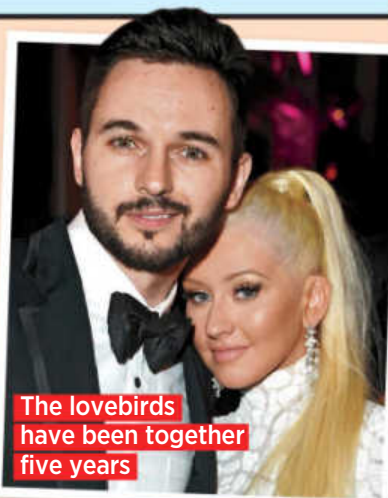

The singer, 34, was introduced to the therapist by her makeup artist, and immediately signed her up to put steam back between the sheets.

"Her clients are people who have lost their mojo after having a kid," the source said. "She helps them open up about sexual fantasies!"

The game plan has been a touchdown for Christina and producer Matt, 30.

Donald Trump:

THE MAN BEHIND THE LEGEND!

The presidential hopeful takes you back to the beginning to see how he became the success he is today

EVEN in elementary school, I was an assertive, aggressive kid. In the second grade, I punched my music teacher in the eye because I didn't think he knew anything about music!

I'm not proud of that, but it's clear evidence that even early on I had a tendency to make my opinions known in a forceful way. The difference now is that I use my brains instead of my fists!

As an adolescent, I was mostly interested in creating mischief.

For some reason, I liked to stir things up and test people. I'd throw water balloons, shoot spitballs and make a ruckus in the schoolyard and at birthday parties.

When I turned 13, my father decided to send me to military school, assuming that a little military training might be good for me. I wasn't thrilled about the idea, but it turned out he was right. I attended the New York Military Academy in Cornwall, N.Y., from eighth grade through my senior year. Along the way, I learned a lot about discipline and channeling my aggression into achievement. As a senior, I was appointed a captain of the cadets.

Our family was very traditional. My father, Fred Trump, was the breadwinner, while my wonderful mother, Mary MacLeod, whom he married in 1936, not only took care of us five children, she cooked and cleaned and darned socks and did charity work at the local hospital.

We lived in a large house, but we never thought of ourselves as rich kids. We were brought up to know the value of a dollar and to appreciate the importance of hard work.

Fred Trump

Growing up, the most important influence on me was my father. Fred Trump was born in New Jersey in 1905. His father, who came here from Sweden as a child, owned a moderately successful restaurant, but he was also a hard liver and a hard drinker. He died when my father was 11 years old.

During high school, my father began taking night classes in carpentry, plan-reading and estimating, figuring that if he learned a trade, he'd always be able to make a living.

By the age of 16, he'd built his first structure, a two-car frame garage.

Few homes had attached garages at the time, and my father was able to establish a very good business building prefabricated garages for $50 each.

Besides being focused and ambitious, my father just plain loved working. From as early as I can remember, he'd say: "The most important thing in life is to love what you're doing, because that's the only way you'll ever be really good at it."

I learned a lot from him. I learned about toughness in a very tough business. I learned about motivating people, and I learned about competence and efficiency: "Get in, get it done, get it done right, and get out."

But I also learned very early on that I didn't want to be in the same business as my father. He did very well building rent-controlled and rent-stabilized housing in Queens and Brooklyn, but it was a tough way to make a buck.

I wanted to try something grander, more glamorous and more exciting. I also realized that if I ever wanted to be known as more than Fred Trump's son, I was eventually going to have to make my own mark. NE

SAVE YOUR SKIN!

SUMMER’S nearly over, and it’s time to assess the damage! Skin damage caused by the sun is reversible if you use the right ingredients! Start by looking for antioxidants like retinol, which can reduce wrinkles and fight acne. Hyaluronic acid refreshes parched and loose skin, while niacinamide helps to wipe out dark circles and age spots. You can also rely on vitamin C to combat the free radicals that can damage your cells.

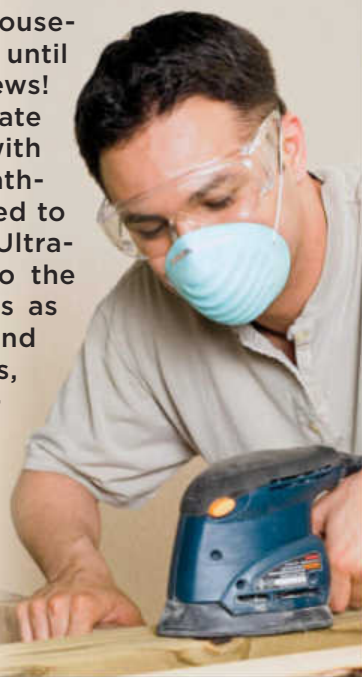

PILL PROVIDES PINK POWER!

THE little pink pill will be available to women on Oct. 17! Sexual dysfunction affects one in 10 women. Now there’s government approval for the first pill that seems capable of increasing a female’s sex drive. The amazing new medication by Sprout Pharmaceuticals is called Addyi (pronounced add-ee) and is considered the first drug to treat hypoactive sexual desire disorder – meaning a cure for low libido in the ladies!

DON'T DO IT YOURSELF!

IF YOU were allergic to household work before, wait until you get a load of this news! Drilling and sanding can create dangerous dust emissions, with hobbyist handymen breathing in awful stuff that’s linked to heart disease and cancer. Ultra-fine particles that float into the air can easily get into lungs as a potential cancer risk, and even end up in bloodstreams, where they harden the arteries. Medical experts recommend that DIYers wear face masks and always wet down walls and other surfaces before using their tools. That’ll knock down the dust before the work even begins.

PREWASH PANIC!

A LOT of people rely on packaged spinach for easy salads and more. But don’t take it easy about washing those prewashed brands!

There have been many recent bacterial outbreaks around leafy green vegetables – and those supposedly “prewashed” packages could be a big culprit. Health experts have found that commercial prewashing can leave up to 90 percent of the original bacteria lounging around on the leaves! In fact, those leaves may even be protecting the bacteria. So take the extra time to rinse off washed vegetables to keep your healthy meals healthy.

tips & tricks

ONE person's trash is another's treasure! Your basement, attic or garage could be bursting with "junk" you can peddle for a profit on the Internet! "Everybody has a few gems around their house," said Michael Stark, who's spent 18 years selling online as Burnt Biscuit Books. So look into selling castoff jewelry, clothing, records and more!

■ GETTING PAID

Most sites allow buyers to pay for purchases with credit cards. You'll be paid via PayPal (you'll have to set up an account) or through the site. In either case, the money will be deposited into your bank account with a small percentage deducted by the site.

■ PRICE SMART

"Sometimes," warned Michael, "what you find in the attic has been found by 1,200 other people!" Do research when setting a price. You won't sell any $5 paperbacks worth only a penny.

■ SELLING POINTS

Snapping pics of your products can make a big difference in your listings. Show what you're selling and go into detail when writing descriptions.

■ DOING GOOD BUSINESS

Make sure you hold up your end of the bargain. Mail your items out on time and respond to questions about your merchandise. The sites will add shipping costs paid by the buyer, but you're expected to maintain your reputation as a seller who gets the job done.

Here are the sites to get you started

■ eBAY allows you to list any item, then choose between fixing your own price and setting up an online auction.

■ ETSY began as a place to sell homemade arts and crafts, but it's also a dream for dealing old fabrics, bangles, beads and books.

■ AMAZON is America's favorite online shopping mall, but ordinary vendors can list their own items right up with the major retailers.

■ CRAIGSLIST is a place to sell items locally because there are no online payments.

combined sexual assault suit brought against John by two male massage therapists.

John's attorney, Marty Singer, has claimed the document "reflects costs and expenses incurred, which is consistent with legal fees being paid in connection with the defense of lawsuits." The legal eagle has pointedly refused to "validate the authenticity of the alleged insurance document."

AS THE ENQUIRER reported in March 2012, one of the therapists alleged disgusting details about a sordid encounter with John at the Beverly Hills Hotel. The muscle-bound masseuse, who passed a lie-detector test, said the actor hired him for a $200 one-hour massage, but the appointment turned ugly when John began inappropriately touching him and even suggested a three-way romp with a "model-type."

The repulsed man filed suit against John on May 4, 2012, but later withdrew his claim.

The second masseuse – revealed to be Atlanta-area fitness coach John Truesdale – also withdrew his suit, which had been filed just days after the first one.

The insurance company document shows a whopping $80,750 paid one week later.

The Chartis document also cites the case of former cruise ship staffer Fabian Zanzi, who claimed John tried to seduce him into giving him a neck massage in 2009 after Fabian delivered a room service meal to the star aboard a cruise ship. "Travolta forced his naked person and his erect penis against plaintiff's person causing plaintiff to experience pain, shock, embarrassment, distress and fear," the complaint filed in federal court in Los Angeles stated.

He later dropped his lawsuit against the actor for a reputed $20,000 payout!

IN THE LATE '80s, a former porn star claimed he was John's gay lover and passed a lie detector test. But within months of the story's publication in The ENQUIRER, John announced his engagement to fellow Scientologist Kelly!

The couple, now worth a staggering $240 million, married Sept. 5, 1991, brokering a marriage/business deal that benefited them both.

Since then, The ENQUIRER has uncovered from multiple accounts how John and Kelly's marriage is a matter of convenience to protect John's leading-man image as well as that of a relentless church determined to propagate the continued notion of domestic bliss on behalf of its most famous married couple.

But John's behavior has revealed the dirty truth: In 2006, John was snapped in a decidedly gay-looking lip-lock with a male friend on the steps of his personal Boeing 707.

Since then he's doggedly defended his marriage, insisting: "I am not gay and get angry when people say my marriage is a sham."

THE VICTIMS OF JOHN'S SICK LUST

Author Robert Randolph exposed John Travolta's enthusiasm for gay sex in health spas in his salacious memoir "You'll Never Spa in This Town Again." According to the author, more than 50 gay men have said they had sex with the star: "John's gay life is one of the worst-kept secrets in Hollywood."

4. JOHN TRUESDALE AKA JOHN DOE NO. 2

This masseur and Atlanta-area fitness coach turned down a verbal settlement offer of $125,000 and later sued. The case was settled, and the star's insurer reportedly shelled out $84,000 – which his lawyers claimed were for legal expenses.

5. VIDEOTAPED SEX PARTNER

Author Robert told The ENQUIRER that a security camera videotaped the star during a gay hookup at a spa. "I've seen the X-rated videotape that clearly shows John Travolta having gay sex!" Robert declared. "On the tape, John is seen receiving oral sex from another man. The tape was recorded in 2004, and I know for a fact that a copy of the master tape was made."

2. DOUG GOTTERBA

John's former pilot stunned the world when he claimed they had a six-year affair. Doug said John took him on romantic trips to Hawaii, Amsterdam and Kenya. "He'd bring women along as beards, but he would ask me to join him in his suite and we'd spend the nights together. It was our little secret," he claimed.

3. JOHN DOE NO. 1

In The ENQUIRER's March 26, 2012 exposé, this masseur confided details about a sordid encounter at the Beverly Hills Hotel. The burly massage therapist – who passed a lie detector test – said the actor hired him for a $200-an-hour massage. The masseur sued the actor in federal court, but later withdrew his claim, saying the incident did not take place on the date he cited in his paperwork.

6. LUIS GONZALEZ

A San Francisco therapist, Luis was a willing sex partner of John's while working as a masseuse at the Ritz-Carlton hotel in Laguna Niguel, Calif., in 1997. "I was in shock for about a week afterwards, thinking, 'I can't believe it! I had sex with John Travolta!'" Luis confessed to The ENQUIRER.

7. FABIAN ZANZI

This former cruise ship staffer said John assaulted him in 2009 after he delivered a room service meal aboard a Royal Caribbean ship. "Travolta forced his naked person and his erect penis against plaintiff's person," said the lawsuit, which Fabian eventually dropped in exchange for a $20,000 payout!

'GAY ICON' STREISAND STILL HAS HOTS FOR JOHN!

BARBRA Streisand was acting like a Woman in Love, flirting with John Travolta right in front of her husband, James Brolin, and John's wife, Kelly Preston!

"Barbra's always had a thing for John," a source told The National ENQUIRER. "She remembers how young and good-looking the 'Saturday Night Fever' star was."

The flirting came at a star-studded get-together Barbra titled "a wonderful evening at home" when she posted a photo of it with her showbiz pals – including Ryan Murphy and Lady Gaga – on her Facebook page Aug. 23.

"Barbra knows all about John's secret gay life and doesn't give a hoot – she's a gay icon!" the source explained. "She still finds him handsome, and spent the night giggling and making googly eyes at him."

"And while Kelly seemed to enjoy her antics – she knows Barbra is one of John's idols – Barbra's husband was not amused," the source added.

Barbra, 73, and her 75-year-old "Marcus Welby, M.D." hubby haven't seen eye to eye in years, and pals fear a $500 million divorce is in the wind.

"If John wasn't married," added the source, "Babs would certainly make Travolta a nice notch on her bedpost."

Brave Celine's on stage tribute TO DYING HUSBAND RENÉ

CELINE Dion recently made a brave and bitter-sweet return to the stage after a yearlong hiatus caring for her cancer-stricken husband, René Angélil, whose own curtain call is near.

"I didn't want to be here at first. I don't need it," Celine said of her return. "Don't get me wrong, I love singing for people, but I have priorities."

The Grammy winner, 47, revealed it was only at René's prompting that she agreed to come back.

"René is with me on that stage," she said, characterizing the first show of her 40-concert residency as "fragile."

"There will be moments," she acknowledged, "of emptiness, laughter, awkwardness, tearing up. But that's the point of coming back – otherwise, I just release an album."

Part of her opening performance included an emotional rendition of "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face" while a montage of family photos and video played out on screens surrounding the singer.

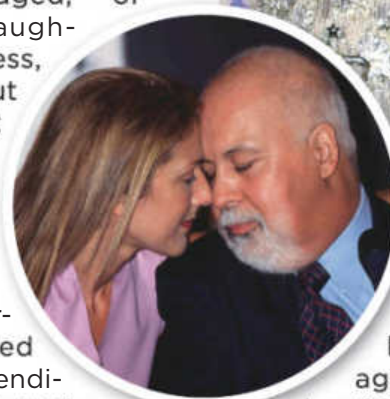

As The National ENQUIRER reported, Celine left her lucrative residency at Caesars Palace one year ago to care for René, 77, and be with their sons – René-Charles, 14, and 4-year-old twins Nelson and Eddy.

"I think I've got this. For now," she said of her struggle with grief. "When it hits me, it's going to hit me. But my biggest job is to tell my husband, 'We're fine. I'll take care of our kids.'"

René, Celine's former talent manager who discovered her when she was only 12, was first diagnosed with cancer in 1999 and had a tumor removed. He had throat surgery again in December 2013, and is now fed through a tube. "We have asked (doctors) many times, 'How long does he have, three weeks, three months?' René wants to know," Celine said. "But they say they don't know."

The "My Heart Will Go On" singer described poignant moments with her dying husband: "René says to me, 'I want to die in your arms.' Okay, fine, I'll be there, you'll die in my arms."

Celine has begun preparing their kids for the inevitable.

"They see how bad their father is now, and it scares them. There's days he can barely sit up," said the source. "She's had to tell them that a miracle just isn't meant to be." NE

CAROLINE KENNEDY & BARACK

Michelle goes ballistic as the pair playfully romp in the surf

FIRST Lady Michelle Obama exploded in fury when Caroline Kennedy Schlossberg crashed her family's Martha's Vineyard vacation and made off with her "Commander-in-Cheat" husband, sources told The National ENQUIRER.

Caroline - President Barack Obama's appointed U.S. ambassador to Japan - showed up out of the blue during the last week of the Obamas' two-week vacation on the Massachusetts island. And it wasn't long until she had Barack's complete attention!

"He immediately started flirting up a storm, while Michelle could barely keep her temper in check," a snitch told The ENQUIRER. "Even though both their families were there, it was really intense."

"At one point later, Barack 'jokingly' suggested to Caroline that the two go skinny-dipping!

"While they didn't end up swimming nude, Barack and Caroline did sneak off to talk politics over lunch and swam in the ocean with the rest of the group. Before the day was over, Michelle was seething and furious. After they returned to their rented compound, she lit into Barack and read him the riot act."

THE MARITAL BLOWUP was the latest to rock the couple, who are expected to square off in a $100 million divorce once Barack leaves the White House after his second and final term in office in January 2017, sources said.

The ENQUIRER learned that only days before the very-married Caroline interrupted their vacation, a defiant Barack had ditched his wedding ring!

Photos obtained by The ENQUIRER show the Prez was missing his band when he was spotted at the golf course.

Adding insult to injury for Michelle, he happened to be playing with former “Horndog-in-Chief” Bill Clinton on Aug. 15 at Farm Neck Golf Club in Oak Bluffs, Mass.

So it was par for the course when Caroline, 57, and Barack, 54, put their heads together at Martha’s Vineyard – and Michelle lost hers.

“Michelle barely uttered a word to Caroline,” a family insider told The ENQUIRER. “She doesn’t trust her. And the few times she glanced Caroline’s way, she shot her daggers.”

THIS WASN’T THE first time Caroline made Michelle see red.

The ENQUIRER exclusively reported last year that Michelle, 51, went ballistic over a cheating scandal that erupted when Barack was in Japan.

When the First Lady saw photos of her husband and Caroline looking cozy – and sharing a kiss – she blew her top. Later, Michelle warned Caroline in no uncertain terms to stay away from her husband!

The source added: “Michelle wants Barack to send Caroline back to far-off Tokyo – or beyond!”

CAROLINE’S MARRIAGE ‘A COMPLETE JOKE!’

AS TROUBLED as the Obamas’ marriage is, Caroline’s is worse!

Caroline wed New York businessman Edwin Schlossberg, 70, in 1986. The couple have three kids, Rose, 27, Tatiana, 25, and Jack, 22.

“It’s a joke,” sources told The ENQUIRER. “They live separate lives. Since Caroline was appointed U.S. Ambassador to Japan in 2013, she’s been living overseas, while Ed stays with the kids in New York. They like it that way.”

But staunch Catholic Caroline will never split with Ed because she doesn’t believe in divorce, the source explained to The ENQUIRER.

“Caroline decided long ago, there’s been enough tragedy, scandal and bitter marital conflict in the Kennedy family,” said the source. “As the last surviving daughter of Camelot, a divorce was never in the cards.”

For appearance’s sake, the couple will occasionally be seen together – the last time being at New York’s Ellis Island Foundation’s Gala in May. NE

ENQUIRER SPECIAL INVESTIGATION

AT LAST, the truth: Evil Bill Cosby has peddled endless lies in a desperate bid to cover up the drugging and sexual assaults of dozens of helpless women over five frightening decades!

That's the stunning conclusion from famed lie-detection expert Michael Sylvestre, who used a forensic device to scrutinize the shameless comedian's endless denials to the media, including a world exclusive interview with The National ENQUIRER.

Michael, a certified voice-stress analyst, fed tapes of Cosby's protests about his innocence into the DecepTech Voice Stress Analysis Machine - a computerized version of the Psychological Stress Evaluation.

The tool, used by more than 50 law enforcement agencies in the U.S. and others overseas, detects stress changes that indicate truthfulness and show up as waves.

It is said to be far superior to a conventional polygraph and is renowned for providing conclusive results.

In an interview with ENQUIRER Executive Editor

Barry Levine in 2005, Cosby dismissed claims by actress Tamara Green that alleged he had raped her 35 years before - saying she was propped up by the media.

"Sometimes you try to help people and it backfires on you," Cosby declared.

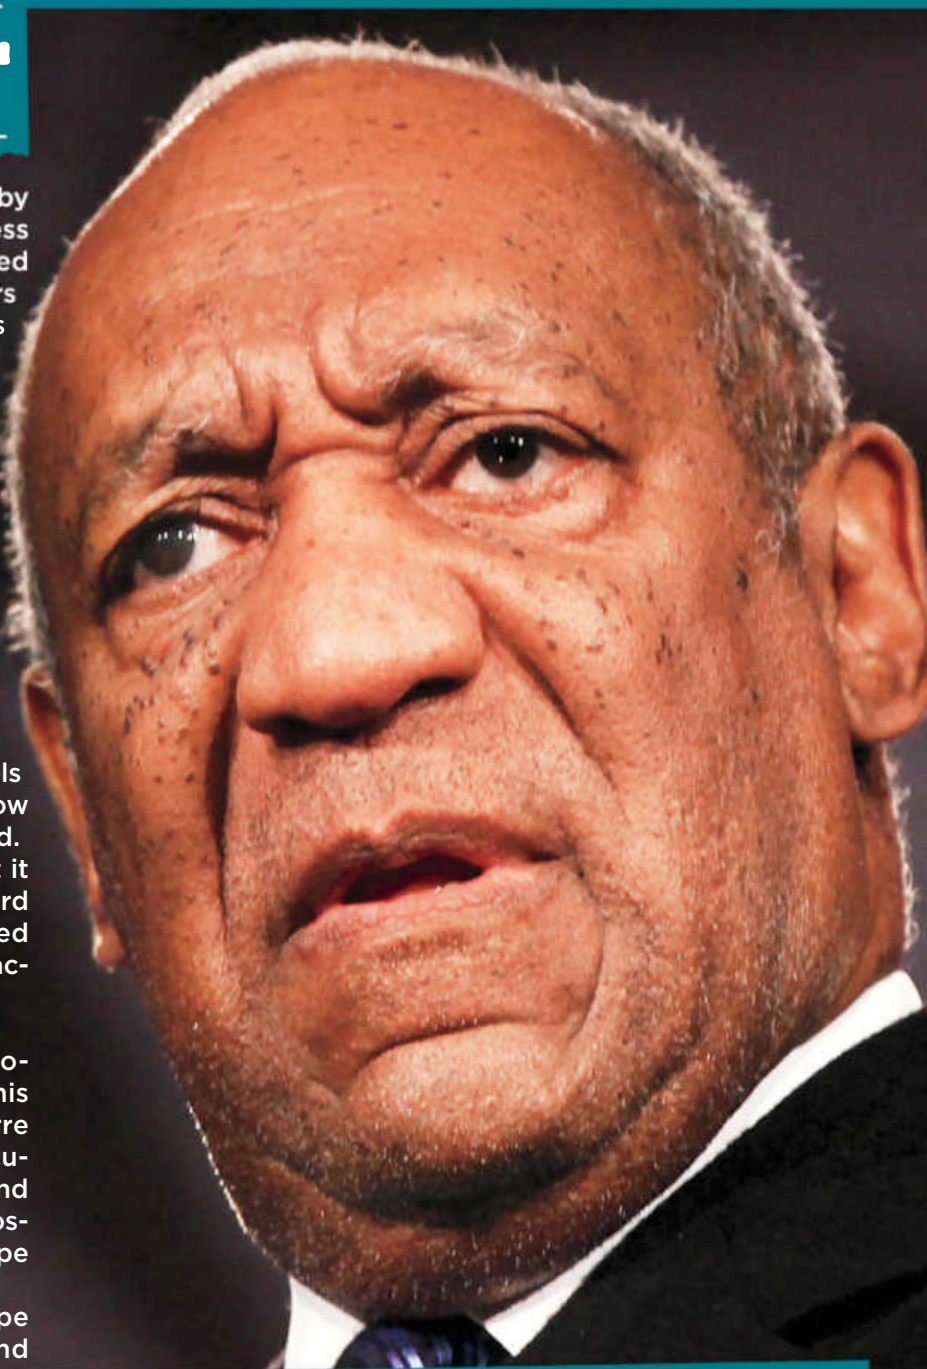

After completing his analysis, Michael concluded: "The ENQUIRER interview is damning! Mr. Cosby is saying he didn't do it, but my conclusion is that he definitely did try to rape Tamara!"

He added: "His stress levels are off the charts. They show that time and again ... he lied.

"He's trying to talk about it like it's happening to a third party, but Cosby's haunted by the fact that he's being accused of this years later!"

THE DISGRACED star provided more evidence of his apparent guilt in a bizarre interview from a 2011 documentary - titled "Bullies and Friends" - during which Cosby abruptly introduced rape into the conversation.

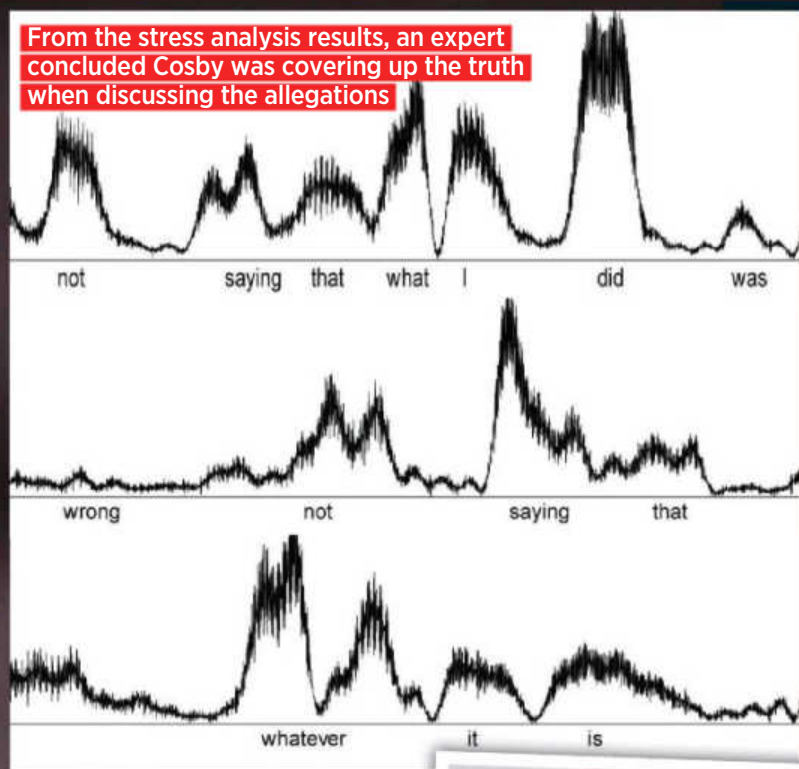

Cosby referred to the rape of an 11-year-old girl, and

TRUTH DETECTOR FINALLY EXPOSES TWISTED BILL'S STUNNING SEX COVER-UP!

From the stress analysis results, an expert concluded Cosby was covering up the truth when discussing the allegations questioned whether a victim at that age “can or can’t” give permission to have sex.

At The ENQUIRER’s request, Michael analyzed the comment and found Cosby to be “really stressed out” about the topic of sex assaults.

He noted: “He’s really stressed out on the word ‘can’t,’ but not on the word ‘can.’ That’s a confession right there!”

More recently, Cosby’s denials in a May 15 interview with “Good Morning America” have proven just as damning.

“He was given a public forum to profess his innocence, yet was stressed out,” Michael said. “This shows he was being asked questions he didn’t want to answer.”

Cosby, who has denied any wrongdoing, was probed how he could continue to defend himself against the allegations of more than 30 victims.

He then offered this rambling and almost indecipherable response: “I’m telling you where the road is out. I’m telling you where, as you drive, you are going to go into the water. Now, you want to go

Cosby avoided answering questions directly in an interview here, or you want to be concerned about who is giving you the message?”

Michael concluded Cosby used the incoherent response to avoid directly addressing the truth: “If he really was innocent, you would think he would have no problem with that!”

In a dramatic turn of events, law enforcement could now use this new forensic evidence to FINALLY seek justice for Cosby’s victims.

“This information shows Cosby has been deceitful and it could lead to criminal charges,” said a source.

SOCIOPATH DOESN'T SEE HIS ACTIONS AS RAPE, SAY EXPERTS

HE’S confessed to using date rape drugs to “seduce” helpless women – but top psychological experts have told The National ENQUIRER that Bill Cosby remains a “guiltless narcissist,” with the disgraced comic still in “sociopathic denial” about his sex crimes!

“I hate to use the word ‘psychopath,’” said Dr. Mark Goulston, who has not treated the alleged sex fiend, “but psychopaths do whatever they want – and feel their actions are above the law!”

THE BATTERY OF experts consulted by The ENQUIRER all agree that Cosby’s actions are consistent with a wide range of deep and dangerous psychological disorders!

“He likely doesn’t see (his) actions as rape,” said Dr. Samam Hafeez, who also hasn’t treated Cosby. “He has been exposed as a grandiose and narcissistic man who thinks he’s entitled to sleep with any woman he wants to. His ego will not allow him to take ‘no’ for an answer.”

As The ENQUIRER previously reported, many of the nearly 100 women who claimed they were molested by Cosby talked about how he enjoyed his control over the helpless victims after drugging them.

“He gloated over my humiliation,” said Linda Ridgeway Whitdeer. “He had planned it.”

That sick behavior is common among criminal predators, according to the experts. “Men who commit these kinds of crimes use sex as a way to gain power and control over women,” said Dr. Rachel Needle, who also has not treated Cosby.

Though Cosby admitted in a 2005–2006 deposition that he used drugs on his victims, he rationalized the twisted act by describing his actions as “setting a romantic atmosphere.”

“He is grandiose, narcissistic and a sociopath,” said Dr. Hafeez. “He sees these women as conquests, and conveniently excludes the memory of what he had to do to ‘conquer’ them!”

The use of drugs also indicates a disturbing sense of inadequacy in the accused sex monster, added the experts. NE

Jay & Jenner's car-azy pals act!

BOSOM BUDDIES

ALONG FOR THE RIDE

JAY Leno is realizing his dream of becoming BFFs with transgender icon Caitlyn Jenner!

The retired "Tonight Show" host had always been friendly with the former Bruce Jenner, as the two 65-year-olds bonded over their passion for quality cars, insiders revealed to All The Buzz. "Caitlyn shares Jay's same sassy sense of humor, and he figures she must still be crazy for cars!" said a family friend.

Jay is in constant touch ever since Caitlyn announced her transition, and has sent out invites to kick-start a renewed "Laverne & Shirley"-style friendship.

Jay has also gone out of his way to be supportive toward his lady friend at his comedy shows.

"Jay has a Q&A portion during some of his smaller stand-up gigs," reported a spy, "and people have tried to get him to comment on Caitlyn - but he stays away from making any kind of gag at her expense!"

CHANGING FACE OF FAME CARRIE FISHER

"I WENT to a fat farm," joked Carrie Fisher about playing Princess Leia in 1977's "Star Wars," "but I'd have to lose 12 million pounds to have cheekbones!"

Carrie's career has gone from being a Hollywood ingénue to suffering a significant weight gain while battling depression - but she's back to looking like a star for the upcoming "Star Wars: The Force Awakens."

Thor's bilingual battle!

CHRIS Hemsworth is brushing up on his Spanish so he can understand when his wife is yelling!

"My Spanish is so horrible that I can't understand when she's angry with me!" the 32-year-old actor divulged.

The "Thor" star has been married to "Furious 7" actress Elsa Pataky since 2010, but the beautiful native Spaniard, 39, and her studly Australian husband suffer a language barrier at the worst times.

But the hunk added that he's already learned one "very important phrase" in Spanish.

"Si, mi amor," Chris explained - which translates to "yes, my love!"

'Full' of anger

JOHN Stamos can't believe the Olsen twins can hold a grudge for 28 years!

Mary-Kate and Ashley, 29, are refusing to be part of the Netflix reboot of the series "Full House" - because John tried to get them fired from the show in 1987.

It's a story John has laughed about in the past, recalling how the blonde cuties "cried a lot" and had a fed-up Uncle Jesse begging for a new twins to play young Michelle Tanner.

"They brought in a couple of unattractive redheaded kids," said John. "We tried that for a while, and that didn't work."

Now John's seriously angry that the former child stars won't join the new "Fuller House."

"When they were older and learned that, they never forgave John," an insider said.

"The show became just a job to them - and they're the only ones out of that entire cast who don't talk regularly!"

Classic ENQUIRER

THE royals were rocked this week in 2000 when The National ENQUIRER revealed Princess Diana's secrets from beyond the grave! We unearthed 23 audiotapes by the doomed Princess of Wales, as she detailed Prince Charles' cold-blooded adultery - plus her struggle with eating disorders and a shocking attempt at suicide!

Svelte revenge

HEARTBROKEN Kourtney Kardashian is wasting away over former boyfriend Scott Disick - with the help of Dr. Liposuction!

"She says she's lost weight over depression," a spy dished to All The Buzz.

"But Kourtney really hated to feel rejected, so she lifted her spirits with a little plastic surgery!"

Now the 36-year-old reality star is loving the effect her slimmed-down figure is having on Scott!

"She feels sexier than she has in years," said the insider, "and Scott's drooling over her hot new bod! It's giving her a real ego boost!"

Jen jilts mom

JENNIFER Aniston has left her mom doubly heartbroken! Nancy Dow - who raised Jen as a single mom - wasn't invited to her daughter's wedding, just weeks after being snubbed by Jen on her 79th birthday!

"Nancy's friends in California know she's upset about being estranged from Jennifer," said an eyewitness.

"So they gave Nancy a big birthday party at a restaurant in Encino, reaching out to Jennifer - who didn't show up!"

Nancy couldn't know Jen was getting ready for her Aug. 5 nuptials to Justin Theroux.

"She's putting on a brave face," added the spy, "saying, 'What do I know? I'm just her mother!'"

Scene-stealing Cher

CHER won't share the spotlight with her transgendered son!

The diva demanded attention when she went to see the play, "Down the Road," which stars Chaz Bono.

"Cher showed up in sunglasses so all 30 people in the theater would know she was a star," said a spy.

"Then she kept them on during the whole show!"

ASK THE VET

WITH DR. JEFF LACROIX

Owning a pet can be a rewarding, but often puzzling, experience. ENQUIRER columnist, top veterinarian Dr. Jeff LaCroix, answers the toughest questions about your four-legged friends.

DIY FOOD TRIALS

Our chronically itchy dog may have a food allergy. Our vet recommended a food trial and prescribed a very expensive diet that we really can't afford long-term. Can you suggest something else? Your veterinarian probably suggested a hydrolyzed protein diet. This is a very good choice if you are trying to rule out a food allergy. In this diet, the proteins that are considered to cause allergies are reduced to such a small size that they no longer trigger an allergic reaction.

The only other route is a novel protein diet, meaning switching to a protein the pet has never been exposed to and eliminating all other foods. Fish, duck, lamb and even kangaroo are some of the foods that meet these criteria. This is a less expensive option that may yield the same results.

Send your pet questions to Ask The Vet, National Enquirer, P.O. Box 1831, New York, NY 10156 or email letters@nationalenquirer.com.

HOW TO PLAY

You must fill in every empty square in the Sudoku grid. There's no right way of going about this, but there is only ever one solution. The big grid is split into nine mini-grids. There are nine rows running left to right and nine columns running down. In every row, you must have each of the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. These can be in any order. The same applies to columns and mini-grids: place every number 1 through 9 in each column and in each mini-grid.

City leader's on a mission to make people happy ... and he's only 3 years old!

THE mayor of Dorset can't be voted out of office – but he can be sent to the corner for a time out!

That's because the 22 residents of the small Minnesota town have elected a sensationally small leader: 3-year-old James Tufts!

James is the heir of a political dynasty: The freckle-faced red-head is following in the footsteps of his brother, 6-year-old Robert!

"I wanted to be the mayor so much," said James, who won the honorary title at the Taste of Dorset Food Festival – where residents annually choose their mayor by putting a name in a hat, after paying $1 as part of a raffle.

James joins Robert in holding the record for the town's youngest mayor. His older brother was also only 3 when he was first elected to office.

The only other child to have landed the job was a 4-year-old boy from Chicago.

Curiously, a rooster of unknown age was also once elected – but died before his inauguration.

Proud mother Emma said James was training for office alongside Robert.

"He would introduce himself as the mayor when he

Dorset, Minn.,
Mayor James Tufts

Older brother Robert, left, was also a pint-sized mayor wasn't," explained Emma.

"He would tell people that he was the vice-mayor, depending on how he was feeling."

James already has his agenda all planned out.

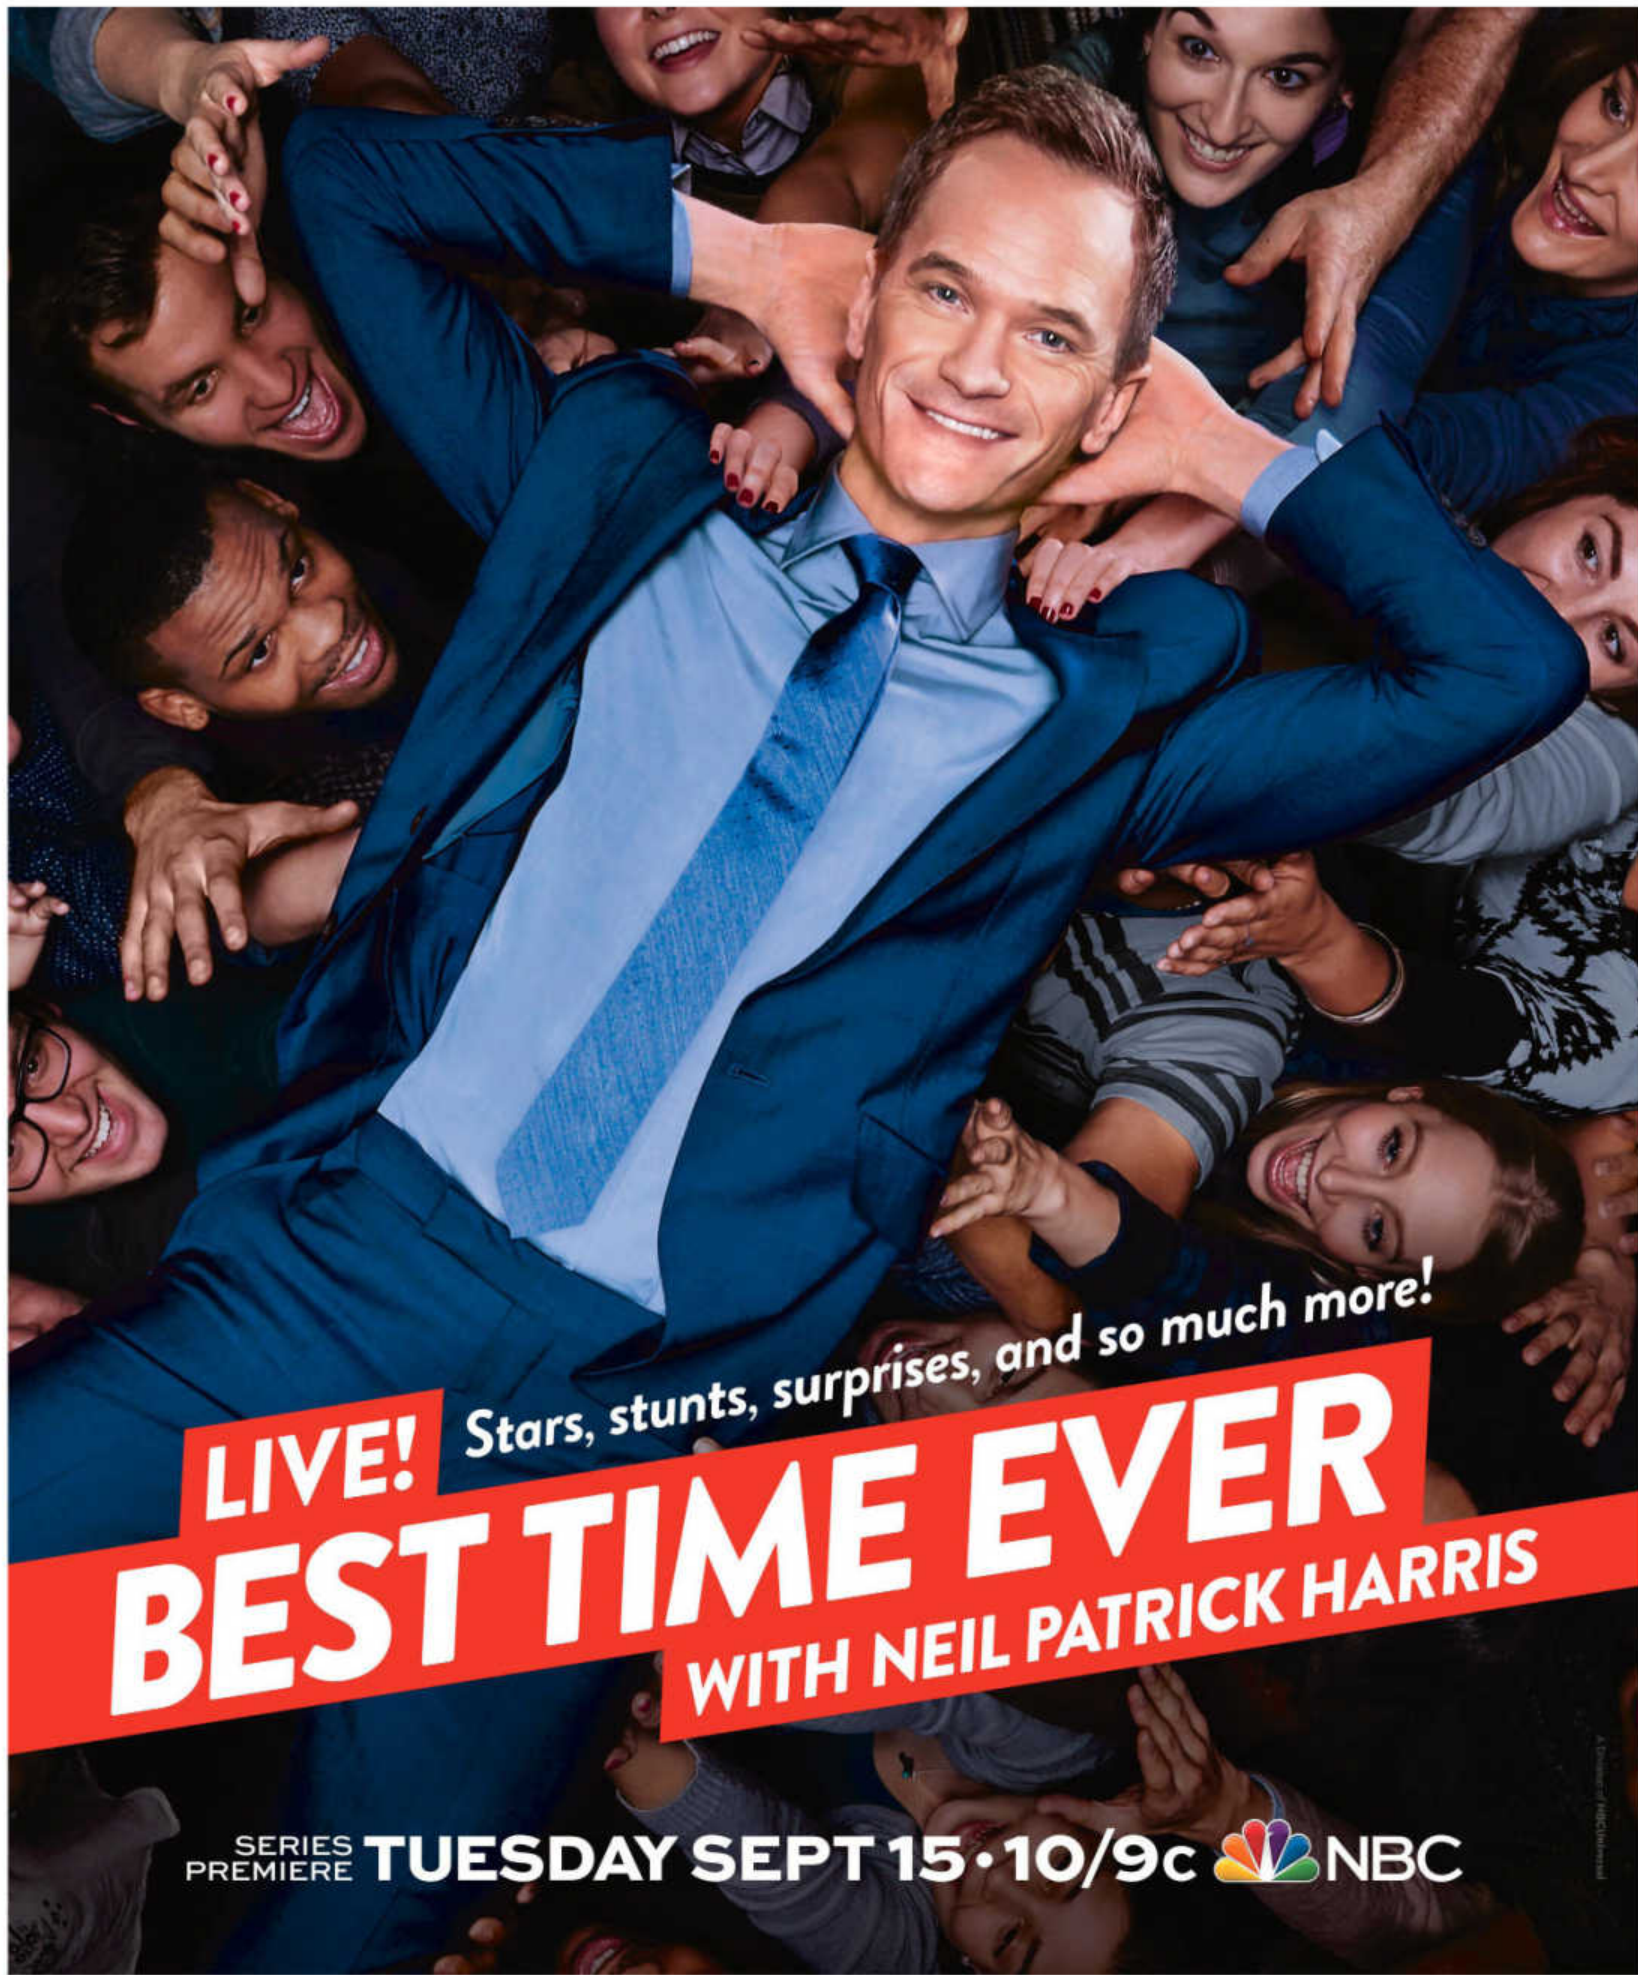

"I want to give presents to kids when they're sick at the hospital," he said. That would continue his brother's practice of using the office to raise money for groups like the Salvation Army and Ronald McDonald House Charities.

Don't worry about sibling rivalry though. Robert enthusiastically endorsed James.

"He doesn't do too much mean stuff," the former mayor quipped, adding, "I told him to be nice when you talk to people and don't say any poop talk!"

That's the kind of leadership we'd like to see in the White House! But for now, James – and his cute political adviser – are just kids voted to the top of this week's Odd List. NE
